STOP PRESS

Llansilin may not be without a vicar for very much longer.

An advert has appeared in the Church Times for a house-for-duty vicar.

Interviews are in July so there may be good news in the next newsletter.

Keep in touch

The village turned out in force for the Fun Day and yet again we saw how well supported local events can be. Looking at the diary dates on page 15 you will see that there are plenty more to come and the drama group PALS have already started planning next year's production (contact Alison Beeston if you'd like to help.)

If you organise an activity or event in the village and would like more publicity for it, just let me know. And if there are any notable achievements by someone living in the village it would be good to know about that too - with photographs if you have them.

Next year we commemorate the anniversary of the outbreak of the First World War. The memorial in St Silin's churchyard tells its own story.

Mercifully from the conflict that followed 20 years later only one name appears on the memorial but next year will see the 70th anniversary of that death. Here SHIRLEY JONES remembers Albert (Jack) Reynolds (1921-1944)

In a corner of a foreign field lies a hero of Llansilin

There's barely been a time when I haven't heard tales about young Jackie Reynolds, life and soul of the Llansilin community during the 1930s.

He lived with his grandmother, Mary Ann, at Groesffordd and went to Llansilin School at the same time as my mother. She has many times regaled me with stories of his mischief and good humour and I have always felt a keen sadness that this lad with a smiling face and cheeky disposition was not to come back from the war.

Albert Reynolds, as he was baptised, died on 12 November 1944 aged just 23 near the port of Ancona on the eastern coast of Italy. He enlisted with the Royal Engineers and later joined the second battalion of The Queen's Royal Regiment (West Surrey) as private 1808363 and with fellow troops was defending a river when he was wounded.

His injuries were reported in the local newspaper. He was not to recover and his final resting place is Ancona War Cemetery which is maintained by the Commonwealth War Graves Commission.

His name appears on the War Memorial in St Silin's churchyard but he also has a headstone where he lies at Passo Varano, a village three kilometres south of Ancona. The cemetery there is terraced with 1,089

other soldiers
buried there.

I decided to make a pilgrimage to pay tribute to Jackie on behalf of a generation who owes so much to his.
Visiting his grave was profoundly moving and I found myself
weeping at the loss of the life that wasn't fully lived.

Before leaving home I had undertaken some research into the

Reynolds family tree - a relatively small family originally from Cleobury Mortimer, in Shropshire.

Llansilin School photograph taken in 1929; Jackie is the tall lad in the back row. The picture also shows several people who still live in the village.

They came to Llansilin at the turn of the 20th century. Jackie's grandfather James was a painter and plumber and the family lived at Groesfordd.

Jackie's birth certificate shows that his mother was Florence Mary Reynolds, one of James and Mary Ann's four children. I am now undertaking some research to discover what happened to Florence as she may have changed her name through marriage and perhaps had other family away from Llansilin and her first born.

Jackie, so my mother tells me, was something of a rebel and a prankster in Llansilin and once set off one young lad's entire box of fireworks in one go!

His military service was to take him to the Far East for quite a spell before the fateful transfer to the Adriatic in 1944.

Although I have researched my own family history extensively I have felt particularly moved by Jackie's story as I have explored his short life and the sacrifice he made. I dearly hope to discover a living relative but in the absence of such I shall be proud to carry the flame for his life as a son of Llansilin.

Shirley Jones at Jackie's grave in Ancona. Shirley is a granddaughter of the original Hughes family from Bryn Aber and niece of Bell and Martha Hughes.

We will remember them

Next year marks the centenary of the opening of the First World War. If you have memories or stories of one of the Llansilin men involved in that great conflict please contact the editor of the newsletter. We would very much like to carry them in a special remembrance edition.

SHOP TALK

It's a great place to meet and shop – and good value too

As more village shops and small post offices are closing the Llansilin Community Shop continues to strive to make a positive contribution to the village. Feedback from customers using the shop over recent months has been very encouraging:

- "It is good place to meet up with friends when we are doing our shopping."
- "It is convenient having the shop here as I don't always have to go into town to shop"
- "I like being able to buy food from local producers stocked by the shop."
- "I was surprised to discover that prices in the shop were good value, and not as high as I expected."

There is the additional benefit of having the post office attached to the shop which means that shoppers can combine their trips. Not only can you now withdraw cash at the post office – and there are many participating banks, ranging from the Big Five banks to Halifax BS, Cahoot or Smile – but postmaster Peter Wilks says; "Several new people to the village have commented on how convenient it is to have their pensions and/or benefits paid into a post office card account enabling them to withdraw cash weekly here in the village instead of the long and costly trip to their nearest bank."

LLANSILIN COMMUNITY SHOP

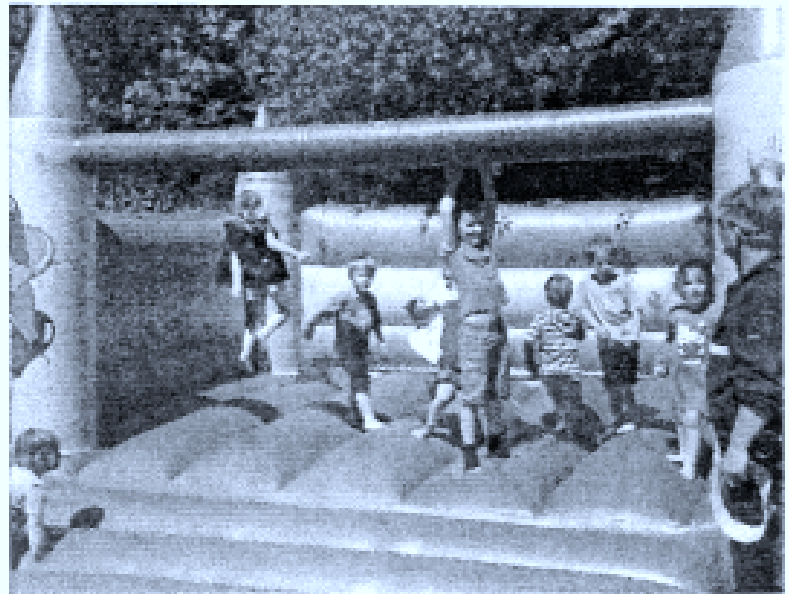

Open Tuesday 9.00-2.30 and Thursday 9.00-12.30

POST OFFICE

Fun in the spring sun

In the midst of spring bank holiday rain and gales the sun shone on one day alone – Llansilin Fun Day. Not surprisingly villagers turned out in strength and they were certainly not disappointed.

After the children successfully completed their first maypole dance there were stalls and sideshows to keep everyone busy. One of the organisers, Jean Kulig, said that the event more than covered its costs and there is enough in the kitty to ensure an even bigger event next year.

The free bouncy castle was a big attraction as were the face painting and an 1895 motor-tricycle

Open Garden Event

Saturday 13 July

incorporating the

Annual Fundraising Shop Walk

Llansilin Community Shop is organising an event which will combine a walk (or drive) between three outlying Llansilin gardens with refreshments available. Watch out for further advertisements. More details and tickets will be available from the shop/post office nearer the date. Tickets : £2.50. (Children free)

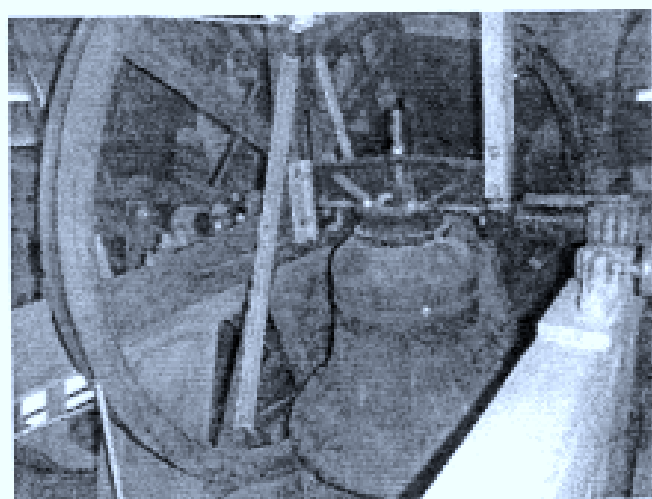

Sounds familiar

Recently Christine Williams and Kit Carter joined other members of the Montgomeryshire Branch of Bell Ringers on their summer outing, visiting the towers at Lydbury North, Bishop's Castle, Clun and Wistanstow. This was a trip down memory lane for Kit who began his ministerial life in this area, recalling 'blacking up' as a Bedlam Morris man for a fellow member's wedding at the local doctor's house. It was surprised faces when, on entering Lydbury church, the groom was welcoming us, and on leaving the doctor was busy on grass cutting duty.

You may well hear Llansilin bells being rung on Saturdays; we are to host the North Wales Association's Striking Competition, and also St Martin's and Oswestry bell ringers have rung Quarter Peals.

The bell tower was open on Llansilin Fun Day and attracted a large number of visitors. After Chris Burton had explained the principles of bell ringing and the ringers gave a brief demonstration the braver visitors were able to ascend to the very top of the tower to see the bells at close quarters

We hope that some of those who came to look at the bells will come again and join our band of ringers. Practice is on Wednesday evenings at 7.30 pm and beginners are very welcome.

Gweinidogaeth Bro

Fel rwy'n ysgrifennu hwn mae'r haul yn braf ac yn boeth , am newid o ddau fis yn ôl gyda throedfeddi o eira ar hyd y lle.

Ar ddechrau Mis Mawrth fe gawsom wasanaeth dan ofal y marchod. Gwasanaeth oedd hwn wedi cael ei lunio gan Chwirydd Cristnogol Ffrainc. Thema y gwasanaeth oedd "Bum yn ddieithr a rhoesoch groeso i mi". Mrs Lola Evans oedd wedi trefnu y gwasanaeth.

Buom y dathlu gwyl ein Nawdd Sant, Dewi, cyn i'r eira gyrraedd. Cawsom fwyd blasus iawn , a'r gŵr gwadd oedd Arwyn Davies, Y Groe, Dolanog. Defnyddiodd ei gywyddau i'n hatgoffa o'n Cymreictod. I gloi'r noson cawsom ein diddanu gan "Y Blewyn Gwyn", pedwarawd eto o ardal Dolanog.

Fel arfer, ar y Sul cyntaf o Fai, cynhaliwyd y Gymanfa Ganu yn Seion, Croesoswallt. Robert Parry oedd yr arweinydd a Nia Turner oedd yr unawdydd. Cymanfa hwyliog iawn.

Oherwydd y tywydd garw cafodd llawer o gyfarfodydd eu gohirio, ond erbyn hyn gallwn edrych ymlaen am haf hir felyn tesog.

As I write this quarter's news, the sun is shining, what a change from two months ago when there was snow covering the whole valley.

At the beginning of March, the ladies took part in a service compiled by the Christian Sisters of France. The theme was "I was a stranger and you welcomed me". Mrs Lola Evans organized the service.

We celebrated Saint David's day with a tasty meal in the Village Hall. The guest speaker was Arwyn Davies from Dolanog. He read some of his own poetry written in the strict metre. To end the evening we were entertained by "Y Blewyn Gwyn" also from the Dolanog area.

The first Sunday in May is the day of the Gymanfa Ganu, and this year it was held in Seion Chapel, Oswestry. Robert Parry was the conductor and Nia Turner was the soloist. It was a joyful event.

Due to the extreme weather this springtime, many meetings were cancelled, but by now we can hopefully look forward to a sizzling hot summer.

Church news

Teddy Bears' picnic

Lots of Teddy Bears trooped into church one recent Sunday for a Family Service. It was fun to see so many Teddies - some were really young and pristine, belonging to the younger children. Several belonging to grandmas had been much loved, had been repaired and were showing their age!

During the service all the Teddies were invited up to the altar to be blessed. The hymns were popular happy tunes and, of course, had to include all the verses of the well-known Teddy Bears' Picnic. The service was followed, by a real picnic, and an opportunity for the children to colour pictures. The theme for the teddy bear service was the feeding of the 5,000 and the colouring for the children was associated with that theme.

The Family services are on every third Sunday, the services are very informal and short and always followed by refreshments, all are welcome. The families participate - from the lighting of the candles at the beginning to reading prayers, doing the collection and announcing hymns.

Heavy rain has caused problems in the churchyard and because it is a listed site we couldn't dig up and repair the drain unless an architect was present. Since it was a pre-existing drain we didn't expect to find a long-lost treasure trove and, sure enough, we didn't. Quite the reverse - it simply added to the cost the church already had to bear.

Maintaining the churchyard is a continual burden but there are plans to increase its conservation value and anyone who can turn up on a Thursday evening at 6 pm, or after, to help with the grass cutting will be most welcome.

Success for Llansilin table tennis team

The Llansilin "B" side of Mike Taylor, Izzie Kalra and Aaron Morris won the Oswestry and District League Consolation Cup beating the Ex

Servicemen's Club in the final. They are pictured receiving the cup from Brian Roberts, vice president of the league. Table Tennis starts again late August on a Tuesday night starting at 7.30pm. If you are interested please come along. New players of any ability level will be most welcome. Simply come along on a Tuesday evening or contact Pat Lovell on 791235 or email pkplovell@tiscali.co.uk

Safety, schools and snow

In May it was the Annual General Meeting of the Community Council. There were no vacancies and a new chairperson Cllr H Edwards and vice chairperson Cllr L Jones were proposed by members. Both councillors accepted their positions and we wish them well in these roles for the next twelve months.

It has been agreed by the community council, after being approached by the drivers, that a bus stop area be laid on the roadside outside the Memorial Hall. This will improve the safety of children leaving and boarding the school bus during drop-off and pick-up times. It will be a reminder to motorists to avoid this section of the road during the peak school times of 8.45 am and 3.00 pm approximately.

Members have been given the opportunity to provide feedback on plans to introduce a new commissioning body for the education of 16 - 19 year olds. The board will be responsible for planning and commissioning courses for sixth form schools and includes the proposed merger of Coleg Powys with Neath Port Talbot College. Members are concerned that these arrangements will take away local decision making. Funding decisions will be made by the new commissioning body and not Powys County Council and this could reduce the variety of subjects available to our young people after 16.

During the summer months we should start to see some street lighting reinstated in areas around the village as Powys County Council complete their programme of works.

Thanks was given to all those who helped keep the roads clear after the heavy snowfall. Members will be passing comments to the county council concerning the slow response, and suggesting ideas to support a snow-clearing policy for the council in the future.

Forthcoming Community Council meeting dates are on and 9 July and 10 September at 7.30 pm in The Institute. Please feel free to use the postbox should you wish to drop off any correspondence etc at Tynllan or contact the Clerk on 791692.

News from Ysgol Bro Cynllaith

We started our Summer Term by welcoming three new starters; Miles Quance, Thomas Williams and Demi Pullen have joined us in our Foundation class.

Digital Mapping: in collaboration with Llanrhaeadr and Pennant schools our pupils held a workshop evening in Penybontfawr to demonstrate what they had discovered about the pre-history of the Tanat Valley.

The pupils held a successful "Book and Bake" sale in school and have made a donation to Christian Aid after Val Talbot had come into school to give the children a talk about the charity and its work.

We have had a very sporty half term with pupils participating in the area swimming gala, a mini tennis tournament, Urdd 5-a-side football competition, hockey tournament and area sports day in Llanfyllin. We also took part in the Llanrhaeadr Fun Day and won the girls year 4/5/6 competition and the mixed years three and under competition. Let's hope they are as successful in the Llangedwyn and Pennant fun days next month! All pupils also swim every Monday in Oswestry.

The pupils have been looking at the differences between the Church and Chapels in the area. Mrs Carys Evans (pictured) gave a talk on the differences in services and Mrs Christine Williams gave a tour of the church and talked about its history.

Want to work at the school?

Ysgol Bro Cynllaith has vacancies for the following positions:

After-school Club assistant: to work 3.15 - 5.15 pm Tues, Weds and Thurs, to start in September.
